PA Bicentennial Celebration Begins

Two hundred years ago tomorrow, Samuel Phillips, Jr. founded Phillips Academy on Andover's Main street.

Only 26 years old himself, he wrote in the Constitution: "Youth is the important period, on the improvement or neglect of which depends the most important consequence to individuals themselves and their community."

It was the first boarding school incorporated in the nation, and its first class was 13 boys.

Tomorrow, led by Headmaster

Theodore R. Sizer, PA's curent student body of 1088 boys and girls from every walk of American life and from 30 foreign countries, will celebrate Constitution Day by signing an eight-foot scroll reaffirming their commitment to the principles on which the school was founded. Among them, that PA be "ever equally open to Youth, of requisite qualifications, from every quarter," and that PA "lead the way to other establishments on the same

Double Sessions Get Nod

The Andover School Committee Tuesday night accepted as "the best of various bad choices," the use of double sessions at West Jr. High during renovations at East in the 1979-80 school year.

However, the committee left the door open for consideration of alternatives that might arise after Town Meeting votes on building funds next week.

Supt. Kenneth R. Seifert said he hoped

The setting for next week's Annual Town Meeting could hardly be more fitting, as the town's voters gather beneath gaping holes in the East Jr. High Auditorium ceiling to vote yes or no to planning funds for renovations at the aging school.

That particular article seeks $900,000 to plan a $10 million project that could also include an auditorium and some additional phys ed facilities and classrooms at the Andover High-West Jr. High complex.

Some $190,000 of the planning money would be used next year, and school officials claim that 50 percent of the construction costs would be reimbursed by the state.

That's just one of many pocketbook items on which voters will be asked to act. The most major, is the $22 million town budget, which would likely hike the tax rate from the present $58 per thousand to $63.

While the budget comes early in the first session, the school building article is No. 60, and isn't expected to come up until about Thursday, the fourth night of town meeting.

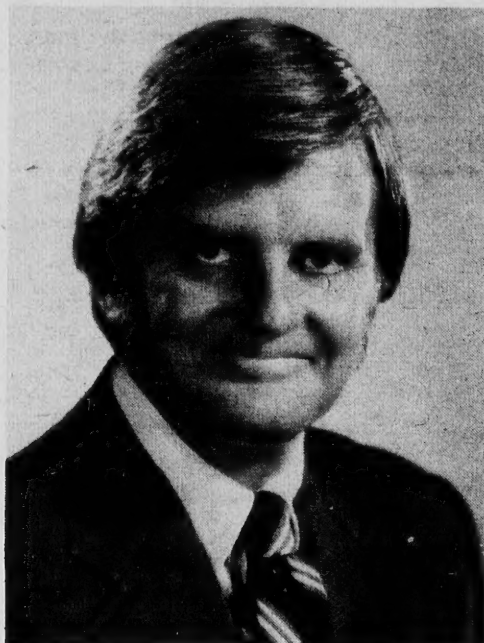

Meanwhile, there's something for everyone earlier in the Warrant, and a quorum for all nights is likely, as various interest groups are expected to be out in force.

The heated leash law issue will appear once again, this time as an article that would confine dogs to six-foot leashes.

Townpeople Invited To Reception

The Andover Board of Selectmen is inviting all town residents to get acquainted with the new Town Manager Jared S. A. Clark and Mrs. Clark.

The board will be hosting a reception for the Clarks Sunday from 4 to 6 p.m. at Memorial Hall Library at Elm Square.

Clark, former city manager at Dover, N. H., has begun duties earlier this month, after being appointed by the Selectmen to a five-year term.

Speaking for the board, Selectman Edward M. Harris says the felt it appropriate for the people to have an opportunity to meet Clark before the annual Town Meeting, which convenes the following day.

Schools To Let Out June 21

The school committee Tuesday night voted to close school this year on June 21, according to the calendar they set up a year ago.

Things aren't as simple as they would appear, however.

The calendar had four snow days built in, and students here missed six. Four of those, however, occurred during the Feb. 7-10 Snow Emergency, and were waived by the State.

That meant that Andover technically used only two of the snow days it had set aside, and school could let out June 19. But the 19th turns out to be a Monday, and tradition ends school at noon. School committeemen agreed that half a day on Monday would serve no purpose at all. They weren't willing "to erode the schedule even further," back to Friday, and so decided to stick with the original 21st.

Pupils aren't getting short-changed, they were quick to add. They will have attended only 177 days, instead of the 180 normally required by the state.

Meanwhile, the committee agreed on a calendar for next year that has pupils starting to school Thursday, Sept. 7, and getting out Friday, June 22. It keeps the long weekend break in February that was tried this year in place of the whole week's vacation of the past.

If the last two winters are any indication, the committee said, Mother Nature will provide plenty of breaks in January and February.

Voter Registration Encouraged

April is "Voter Registration Month" in New England, and while Andover has a respectably high percentage of registered voters, Town Clerk Eldon Salter would like to see it at 100 percent.

He said 600 voters have been registered since the beginning of the year through a trial program. Assistant registrars, going door-to-door on the street listing project, offered residents the opportunity to register right in their own homes.

Persons who have registered may do so from 8:30 to 4:30, Monday through Friday, in town hall.

Andover, with approximately 15,000 registered voters, is about 80 percent, while Essex County as a whole is at about 70 percent.

Signing Up The 4-Legged Variety

The Town Clerk's office also reports that it licensed more than 600 dogs in the during the rabies clinics of the past two Saturdays.

That brings the grand total of registered dogs up to 828, while all are technically to be registered by the end of the month. Last year, 2300 dogs were registered and of course, Town Clerk Salter says, "there are more than that." Some estimates go as high as 3,000.

With two dog officers now, he warns owners it will be easier to round up unlicensed dogs. Hours are the same as for voter registration, also in the Clerk's office.

The Andover Animal Hospital reports that it gave rabies vaccinations to 715 dogs during the Andover clinics, and current rabies certificates are necessary to obtain licenses. Dogs are to be revaccinated, by state law, every two years. Rabies clinics will be held at the garage of the Lawrence Police Department on April 29 and May 6, from 8:30 to noon, for residents who missed them there.

Harvard Band In Concert

The Harvard University Band, with Thomas Everett conducting, will present a concert Sunday at 3 p.m. in the Cochran Chapel at Phillips Academy.

The public is cordially invited to attend, and there is no charge for admission.

The program will be a mixture of the audacious and the conservative, with all gradations in between: marches, a concertante (contemporary) for percussion, a concerto (classical) for clarinet, also Broadway show tunes, part of a Wagner opera, traditional Harvard songs, and more.

On the traditional side are a march by Kenneth Alford, "On the Quarterdeck"; "Elsa's Procession to the Cathedral" from the opera "Lohengrin" by Wagner; a movement (Rondo) from Mozart's "Clarinet Concerto" with Ingu Yun '78, clarinet soloist; selections from "My Fair Lady"; and the above promised Harvard songs, to finish the program.

Less traditional (and probably more fascinating) are Charles Ives' "Country Band March"; "Concertante for Five Percussionists" by Joshua Missal; the "March" from Paul Hindemith's "Symphonic Metamorphosis"; "Elegy for a Young American" by Ronald Lo Presti; and "Children's March: Over the Hills and Far Away" by Percy Grainger.

The instrumental music for this occasion is made possible by funds supplied by the recording companies of America, through the Music Performance Trust Fund, a public service organization created under agreements with the American Federation of Musicians.

Jazz Concert

New England Conservatory will present its Jazz Ensemble in concert on Tuesday, at 8 p.m. at Jordan Hall.

The ensemble is directed by George Russell, internationally acclaimed jazz composer, arranger, improviser and performer. He has appeared in concert throughout the U. S. and Europe, and has performed at the Newport Jazz Festival, President Kennedy's International Jazz Festival, Norway's Molde Jazzfestival and Italy's Bologna Festival.

Annual Meeting Tonight

At the annual business meeting of the Andover Historical Society tonight, Philip C. F. Smith will speak on the "Economics and Romance of the China Trade."

Smith, a native of Salem, is a graduate of Phillips Academy and Harvard University. At present he is curator of maritime history and managing editor of the American Neptune at the Peabody Museum in Salem. He is also the author of several books on maritime history.

Presiding at the meeting will be president Donald P. Hayes, Jr. A slate of officers and directors for the ensuing year will be presented by Mrs. Ralph Hill, chairman of the nominating committee. The speaker for the evening will be introduced by Arthur F. Muldoon, program chairman.

This meeting will take place at Fellowship Hall, South Church at 8 p.m.

Education Seminars Conclude

Dr. Martha Denkler, director of the Neurology Learning Disabilities Program at the Children's Hospital Medical Center, will be the guest lecturer for the final session of Education Seminars sponsored by the Andover Public Schools Tuesday, at 3:30 at the West Elementary Auditorium.

Dr. Denkler will be discussing the medical (brain oriented) evaluation of the child with school problems. She will be discussing the components of the evaluation, the benefits and implications for parents and educators.

The public is invited to attend.

Romantic Morning At Society

A morning coffee is scheduled by the Andover Historical Society April 25 at 9:30 at the Blanchard House, 97 Main St.

Subject of the meeting, starting at 10 a.m., is "A Morning for Romantics." This historical basis for this subject is a letter, written in the early 1700's by a young lady of Nantucket, which charmingly records a developing romance. In keeping with this theme, there will be a display of bridal gowns from the society's fine costume collection.

Mrs. Reta Buchan will be in charge of this meeting. The public is cordially invited. There is no admission fee.

Kite-Flying Contest Is Saturday

The Recreation/Community Schools Department will be sponsoring a kite flying contest beginning at 1:30 p.m. Saturday at the Recreation Park Field.

There will be eight categories of competition:

1. The largest kite
2. The kite with the longest tail
3. The funniest kite
4. The best home made kite
5. The smallest kite
6. The kite with the most original design
7. The highest flying kite
8. The most attractive non-flying kite

All participants in the event will receive an award. First place ribbons will be presented to winners in each category. The four highest flying kites will receive ribbon awards and the top-flyer will receive a home-made kite as an additional prize.

A staff of judges from the R/CS Department will begin judging entries beginning at 1:30 p.m. All participants should arrive at least 15 minutes prior to the contest to receive their kite I.D. number.

The only rule for contest entrants is that all kites — except the non-flying category winner — must get 10 feet off the ground and fly for at least 30 seconds to qualify for the award. There is no pre-registration for this event, just bring some wind and be at the park in time to join the fun.

The rain date for this event is 1:30 p.m. Sunday, at the Rec Park Field.

Grigoli Retires

Edward P. Grigoli, music program advisor, who has been employed by the Andover Schools since September, 1958, is retiring April 30.

Supt. Kenneth R. Seifert told the School Committee Tuesday night that he and Grigoli have had some discussions about the latter wanted to move south, and that he'll be going to Florida in hopes of relocating by the end of the term.

In other personnel action, the school committee granted one-yard sabbatical leaves to Mary Guziejka, music teacher at Sanborn, and Dorothy Goclowski, high school Spanish teacher.

Seifert recommended both requests be granted "without hesitation," and said that the town stood only to gain from both experiences.

Mrs. Guziejka, a teacher here since September, 1968, will be studying music next year at the University of London, while Mrs. Goclowski, who has been with the system since September, 1965, will be doing graduate work and researching the Greater Lawrence area with regard to the development of language-enhanced careers.

Parents' Courses

"Child Development," a five-week Monday morning series for parents will begin

April 24 at the Armenian Cultural Center on Westford Road, Chelmsford. Sponsored by the Merrimack Education Center, this course surveys various theories of child development and methods of dealing with conflicts both within the child, and between parent and child.

For further information call or write MEC, 101 Mill Road, Chelmsford 01824.

Youth Auditions

The Greater Boston Youth Symphony Orchestras will hold annual auditions for the 1978-79 season Saturday, May 6 and May 13 at the Boston University School for the Arts, 855 Commonwealth Ave. There are two orchestras for which any instrumental student who will be in grades 7 thru 12 in September, 1978 is invited to audition.

Edward B. Elmer

Elected To Phi Beta Kappa

Edward Burns Elmer, a student at the Johns Hopkins University Faculty of Arts and Sciences, Baltimore, has been elected to Phi Beta Kappa in his junior year. Phi Beta Kappa, the oldest fraternity in America, is the prestigious national scholastic honor society at the college level. Candidates are elected, not simply on the basis of grade point average in a specialized academic program, but for creative and independent achievement, an across-the-board excellence in a varied liberal arts curriculum.

Elmer, 20, a 1976 Merit Scholarship finalist and a cum laude graduate of Phillips Academy, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Elmer, the Rose Cottage, 2 Chestnut Street, Andover.

Academy Celebration

principles."

Scholarship funds were first given in 1789, and have grown to more than $1 million a year for one-third of PA's students. PA also serves as a national resource for secondary education.

Ceremonies will also include the Alfred E. Stearns Lecture by Stephen Kurtz, colonial historian and principal of Phillips Exeter Academy, which was founded by Samuel Phillips' uncle in 1781.

Finally, the Bicentennial Sculpture will be unveiled on the Great Lawn of the campus. This large abstract metal sculpture by Art Instructor Gerald Shertzer will stand in front of the Academy's classics building, an 1818 work of noted architect Charles Bulfinch.

The American patriots' cause in the Revolutionary War was at a low ebb on April 21, 1778, was the school's constitution was first signed. Revolutionary heroes went on to play an important part in PA's early history. Paul Revere made the school seal, John Hancock signed the articles of Incorporation in 1780 and Present George Washington sent his great-nephews to Andover. He visited the school himself to review the student body in 1789.

Tomorrow's ceremonies also serve as a kick-off to PA's gala four-day celebration set for June 1 to 4, including rotating exhibitions, films, performing arts, multimedia presentations, class reunions, and the graduation of Andover's Bicentennial Class.

The town is invited to join in the celebration, which will include a grand parade, convocation, fireworks, the world premier of an orchestral and choral work by composer Daniel Pinkham, seminars with nationally prominent alumni, and a dance "for all ages."

Spanish Plays At PA

Phillips Academy's Spanish Department invites townspeople and friends to two Spanish plays being presented on Saturday, by the Mt. Holyoke and Amherst College Spanish Theater Group.

"Entremos de los Romances," by Cervantes, and "Anacleto Morones" by the Mexican playwright Juan Rulfo, will be presented twice on Saturday, in Spanish, at a 3 p.m. matinee and again at 8 p.m., both in the Academy's Drama Lab in the basement of George Washington Hall.

League Supports 8 Articles

The League of Women Voters of Andover announced this week that it will support Articles 16, 30, 32, 46, and 54 in the regular Town Meeting Warrant, and Articles 11 and 12 in the Special Town Meeting Warrant.

The League also supports Article 21, asking if the Town wishes to join the Merrimack Valley Regional Transit Authority since the League favors a public transportation service. At unit meetings last week, however, members expressed the concern that the contract be drawn up to include specific options to allow the Town to withdraw from the MVRTA, initiate and terminate routes and provide some local control over operating expenses.

The League supports Article 16, mailing the Finance Committee Report to each household at least 10 days before the first business session of Town Meeting, believing that democratic government depends upon the informed and active participation of its citizens.

It supports Article 30, Flood Plain Zoning in the areas of the Merrimack and Shawheen Rivers, believing that the Town must bear the responsibility for planning and management of land resources and that the enactment of this zoning will identify the natural hazard areas. During meetings, members felt it was important to enact this zoning now, to enable those included in the Flood Plain Area to purchase federal Flood Insurance without which, they would be unable to receive a mortgage from a bank handling federally insured mortgages. There was concern also that there could be no federal assistance for community projects in the flood plain unless the Town were able to purchase the insurance.

The Andover League supports Article 32, the completion of the topographical maps, since they provide information necessary for planning and management of land resources, by identifying areas of concern with an accurate inventory of land resources. The League sees these maps as a valuable tool for long range planning.

The Sign By-Law, Article 46, is supported by the League because the members feel it will encourage the development of the Central Business District by establishing design guidelines which merchants may refer to when proposing a change to the "Townscape".

The League of Women Voters supports Article 54, a property value equalization program, on the grounds that local government should maintain an equitable and flexible system of taxation. At recent unit meetings, members felt this program to be in the best interests of all.

Article 11 in the Special Warrant asks the Town to include a parcel of land in a prior conservation article, and this is supported by the League since the acquisition of this land will protect the watershed of Fish Brook which provides 40 percent of the town's supply.

The League also supports the acquisition of the Turner Farm property as a "renewable resource land" in an area where development could result in the loss of productivity. The members felt the cost of bonding this purchase should be spread over a long period of time.

Background information about League positions may be obtained from League President Joanne Marden.

The U. S. uses 50 to 60 percent more energy per product ton than does West Germany, Massachusetts Audubon tells us.

Amblyopia Testing Next Week

Amblyopia testing for pre-school youngsters will be conducted by the Andover Society at South Church Monday through Friday of next week from 9 to 12 and 12 to 3.

Mothers may turn up with their youngsters with no advance notice. Testing should take about 10 minutes.

Shawsheen Canoe Trip Is Planned

Local members of the Appalachian Mountain Club are making preparations for a canoe trip on the Shawsheen River on Saturday, April 29. The public is invited to participate. Interested persons should contact one of the leaders for further information and details.

Everyone who wishes to take part must register with the leaders by April 26 and will have to have their own equipment (canoe, paddles, and personal flotation device). Children will be welcome if accompanied by parents, who shall be responsible for them. Leaders are Fred Wallace and Jim Christopher of Andover.

The trip will be a leisurely afternoon's paddle on portions of the river in Andover. The marshes and woods along its course as well as adjoining town conservation lands form one of our most attractive natural preserves, especially at this time of year with high water and a new coat of green on the riverbanks. A wide variety of wildlife and birds find refuge in these wetlands. Anyone who takes this opportunity to explore it will be richly rewarded.

Down The Years With The Townsman

THE TOWNSMAN, APRIL 20, 1978

75 Years Ago — April, 1903

Several flashlight pictures were taken during the past week of the interior of the Smith and Dove Mills. They were taken by the Commercial Photo Co., of Boston and are to be used in the St. Louis Exhibition.

An alarm from Box 43 called the fire department to Alfred Ripley's home across from Old South church last Tuesday morning. The smoke in the attic was first noticed by James Fairweather, Mr. Ripley's gardener. The department responding in good time extinguished the fire quickly resulting in only about $500 in damage.

H. A. Halstead, who was superintendent of schools here several years ago, is in town visiting with H. S. Leach on School street.

Heretofore the flag at town hall has flown from the porch over the front entrance. Mr. Saunders, the janitor has lately developed a system of unfurling the flag from the attic window.

F. P. Higgins has just introduced a new machine for the sale of cigars. Attention is attracted to it by a miniature motor on the top which revolves a series of advertising signs, which are illuminated. It is run by electricity.

50 Years Ago — April, 1928

Word was received at Phillips Academy today that President Calvin Coolidge will attend the school's sesquicentennial celebration and will deliver an address on May 31.

Fred L. Collins, custodian at Punchard High school, was appointed a special police officer at the meeting of the selectmen this week.

William J. Burnam already the owner of much valuable real estate in Andover, has purchased from the heirs of M. C. Andrews, the property at 71 Main street. This is where the Andover Historical Society has its rooms.

Joseph A. McCarthy, scoutmaster of Troop 6, was recently appointed to the position of assistant deputy commissioner

A Decline

The proportion of women employed as private household and farm workers has been declining and the proportion in professional-technical, clerical, and service jobs increasing, according to "U.S. Working Women," a U. S. Labor Department publication.

of the Andover District, North Essex Council; Boy Scouts of America.

At a recent meeting of the selectmen, James Napier was reinstated to his old position of sergeant in the police department. The position had been offered to Patrolman James Walker who declined the promotion, thus the sergeancy remains unchanged.

25 Years Ago — April, 1953

A census of Andover's pre-school children taken by the school department, indicates there will be no dramatic increase in enrollment here for the next several years.

Dr. Jeremiah J. Daly, 12 Chestnut St., one of Andover's best known and highly respected citizens, died Sunday after a long illness.

Dr. John J. McArdle, Jr., was elected school physician by the school committee this week to succeed Dr. Philip W. Blake who resigned.

Capt. James E. Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wilson of Lincoln St., has been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross for extraordinary achievement in Korea.

The Memorial Hall library is subscribing for a brief test period to the Manchester Guardian, a newspaper from England.

Orienteering

Massachusetts Audubon Society's Ipswich River Wildlife Sanctuary is sponsoring an all day Saturday workshop on reading topographic maps and cross country travel by compass. Participants are asked to bring their own compass and lunch on April 29, and since space is limited, you must preregister. For more information call or write the Sanctuary.

Miss Bolton In Special Program

A local woman is participating in an unusual tutoring program which helps children with serious emotional problems and learning difficulties.

Sally Bolton, a student at Wheelock College in Boston, is one of a small group of undergraduates involved in the college's Therapeutic Tutoring Program (TTP).

The program, the only one of its kind in the country, deals with academic tutoring and problems relating to the emotional and personal needs of children.

In addition to her regular course work,

Sally, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Bolton of Abbot St., attends special weekly class sessions to learn, share and enhance her knowledge of how to work with her assigned child.

She and the other TTP students—who frequently work in pairs—meet regularly in the tutee's home in order to best help the child by learning more about family interactions and their impact on the tutee.

As part of her responsibilities, the local student takes her child—and sometimes the whole family—on field trips to such places as museums and on explorations around their own neighborhoods.

"We try to give the children a sense of excitement about the world," says Mrs. Ilse Mattick, coordinator of the program at Wheelock, a college specializing in early childhood education and development.

Tutoring also involves consultations with the family's social worker, psychologist and teachers, as well as experts in the field. Students are invited to attend social service staff meetings.

CONTINUUM Open House

The program is in Morton May Hall, 415 South St., Waltham, on the Brandeis University Campus. It offers on-the-job workshops and job-related counseling on a September-to-June schedule.

The Language of Flowers

by Gerry Trull

Orchids are the traditional corsage flower for women, white carnations give an extra dash to men's attire on special occasions. Since orchids come in many different colors, it is a good idea to match it to the outfit the woman or girl in your life will be wearing when she will don your corsage. Carnations too can be found in many different colors, and as men's clothing becomes more colorful, you might consider matching the carnation to your man's tie, shirt, or suit or tuxedo jacket.

And it is a good idea to remember your Secretary on National Secretary's Day, April 26, with a unique plant or a special arrangement of fresh flowers from TRULL'S MILL HILL FLOWER CENTER, 411 River Rd., 851-6161. We offer arrangements with a personal touch and also feature an outstanding array of table, floor and hanging plants. Hours: 9-5:30 Mon-Sat.

J. Everett Collins

Scholarship Honors Director

A music scholarship has been established by The First-Calvary Baptist Church in honor of their former choir director, J.
Everett Collins.

Collins directed the Cathedral Choir at the church for nearly 48 years and retired from this position last year. In December the church honored him at a testimonial dinner and announced their intent to establish The J. Everett Collins Music Scholarship. This Scholarship will be awarded in June to a graduating senior, of good moral character, of Andover High School or a member of First-Calvary Baptist Church who has demonstrated excellence in music and who shows promise of a musical career. It is the hope of the Music Committee that contributions to the Scholarship Fund will be adequate for such a Scholarship to be provided in perpetuity.

SPRING FANCY

As spring approaches, a lighthearted mood is reflected in style interpretations by hair stylists around the world. The fashion conscious, mature with face-framing flattery, while the young will express her impish attitude by wearing long hair and expertly crimped ponytail.

New Pastor Called To South Church

The Rev. Westy A. Egmont, presently pastor of the Second Congregational Church in Peabody, has been unanimously called by the members of South Church to be their 15th minister.

He was chosen from approximately 100 candidates who have been considered since the search for South's new senior minister began last August. He will begin his ministry on August 1.

Dr. Egmont has been in Peabody for the past five years, and previously spent two years at Rift Valley Academy in Kenya, East Africa, as chaplain and student activities coordinator. His pastoral experience also includes two years as Director of Christian Education and Youth Minister at the First Church in Boxford, a wide background of directing Christian summer camping, and serving as administrative assistant for VISTA in South-eastern Mass.

Born in Brooklyn, N.Y. May 3, 1946, he received his B.A. from Barrington College in Barrington, R.I.; his M.Div. from Gordon-Conwell Theological Seminary and his D.Min. in pastoral counseling from Andover-Newton Theological School. 'Tough Choices' Topic For Adult Forum

The Adult Forum at Faith Lutheran Church is now presenting a series of discussions on "Tough Choices".

Sunday, the group will hear Mrs. Louise Ford and Mrs. Michelle LeBlanc from "Parent to Parent" discuss "The Effect of the Birth of a Handicapped Child on a Family". Both Mrs. Ford and Mrs. LeBlanc have a child with a special problem and both are active in "Parent to Parent", a service to aid the parents of special needs children which is funded by the March of Dimes.

Other topics to be discussed in this series are: "Death Decisions and the Living Will", "How to Choose a Nursing Home", and "Genetic Counseling and Prenatal Diagnostic Tests."

The Forum meets from 9:15 to 10:15 a.m. on Sunday at the church on South Main Street, Andover. A nursery is provided for small children and the public is invited.

Auditions For Youth Ensemble

Auditions will be held in May for membership in the 1978-1979 Massachusetts Youth Wind Ensemble.

The Massachusetts Youth Wind Ensemble provides students with an opportunity to study, rehearse, and perform music literature for small, medium and large size wind ensembles. Examples of the music performed by the ensemble range from the Stravinsky "Octet for Winds," Handel, "Music for the Royal Fireworks," Dvorak, "Serenade, op. 44," Haydn, "Divertimento No. 1," to the Husa "Music for Prague". Since its formation in 1970, the ensemble has performed at the Massachusetts Music Educators Association Conference, the Music Educators National Conference, the state capitol (twice, for the governor and the state legislature), and has made four highly successful tours to Europe and Russia. In 1971 the ensemble traveled to Scotland and England; and in 1973 MYWE toured Germany, Czechoslovakia and Austria. 1975 found the ensemble traveling to Russia. In 1977 it toured Greece and the Isle of Rhodes.

Students who will be entering grades 8 through 12 in September are eligible. Any high school wind or percussion player wishing an application form should call the MYWE office as soon as possible or write to Jon Matcheson, MYWE, at the Conservatory, 290 Huntington Ave., Boston 02115.

Auditions will be held May 20 and May 27.

Spectacle

Ducks, Geese, sandhill cranes and whooping cranes arriving along the Platte River Valley in Nebraska during Spring and Autumn form one of the nation's great wildlife spectacles. However, irrigation wells, about 1,000 of them, are being drilled each month in the valley and the habitat will disappear in 30 years, Massachusetts Audubon tells us.

PARI-FAM Reservations Due

The sixteenth annual St. Augustine's PARI-FAM Annual Assembly will be held on Saturday, May 6, at Central Catholic Auditorium.

The night will include a cocktail hour, a catered family-style dinner, a show and dancing until 1 a.m. Chairmen for this year's show are Arthur Rourke and Richard Sullivan. Reservations for the evening can be made by calling Mr. Rourke at his home at 180 No. Main St., Andover.

The cost of this year's PARI-FAM is being kept to $12.50 per person — BYOB. Dr. William O'Reilly and Aime Reming are co-producing this year's show of skits and songs. Reservations for the evening should be made as soon as possible.

Questions Farm Use

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

As a close neighbor to the Turner Farm, my first reaction to possible Town acquisition of this parcel of land is positive. On closer analysis, however, a number of real problems appear—making the property a long term Town liability.

The property adjacent to South Main St. (Rte. 28) has a very high water table and would not lend itself to maximum home building without major land modification, i.e. drains and grading. The extreme rear segment of land slopes off to where a brook flows—again an area of high water table.

The land beyond the barn adjacent to Pike School and the Hidden Road homes is saturated with the affluent of those same homes. During the summer days I have seen an area where the waste water from these homes erupts to the surface and flows down hill towards the stream. Certainly an unhealthy situation and one that would require a sewage line prior to the approval of home building in this area. The remaining land would be suitable for building.

The buildings on the Turner Farm, although apparently sound, seem to me to be just one more potential albatross around the Town's neck. The frontage of the home itself is a scant four to five feet—not a very good feature for a property of such quoted value.

The use of the land as a working farm I see as an idealistic dream. Lovely in theory, but questionable in fact. Who furnishes the tractor (s) and harrow (s) for the farming? Who furnishes equipment necessary to spray the apple trees every two weeks or sooner if a heavy rain occurs? Who pays for the spray—which is very expensive? Who performs the actual spraying? Who protects the crops from vandalism and theft?

An episode still vivid in my memory occurred about four years ago when Mr. Turner allowed a high school group to have an outing on his property. This outing was a disaster. The group was loud, boisterous, drunk and some appeared to be under the effect of narcotics—police had to be called! Motorcyclists rode though the property, automobiles were driven such that some were stuck in the mud and had to be towed. Mr. Turner was shocked—the high school kids turned out to be too much to handle. I see a similar situation occurring repeatedly should the Town purchase this land for the preservation of an open land area.

In conclusion, I submit that the Turner Farm property would probably best serve the Town as an income bearing residential area. The Town has the power to limit the amount of homes that can be built by refusing permits on land parcels of questionable quality. These areas should remain open.

Such a decision would better serve Andover and it's people.

Needs Local Bus Service

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

I urge my friends and neighbors to go to Town Meeting next week and vote for Article 21 which proposes that Andover join the Merrimack Valley Regional Transit Authority.

I have no car — that's the main reason I'm for it. But I also care about cutting down on air pollution and traffic and conserving fuel.

Keep the local buses running: Vote for Article 21.

Commendation For Two

To The Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

I would like to commend two members of the Board of Selectmen, Susan T. Poore and Virginia H. Cole, for having the fortitude to vote that the Board disapprove of the strict leash law to be proposed at this Annual Town Meeting.

Although at various times all five members of the board have stated their feelings that the present Andover dog control by-law has not been adequately enforced, only Selectmen Poore and Virginia Cole translated words into action and voted to take a position of disapproval. Their three colleagues declined to take any position on this emotionally charged and politically sensitive issue.

Selectmen Poore and Virginia Cole, your action was in keeping with the finest traditions of Andover's municipal government.

A Place For Dogs

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

"Man's best friend is his dog," I've heard said.

1. Have you ever seen a dog attack and bite a child? Worse yet—your child?

2. Have you ever had your baby carriage tipped over, infant and all, in your own yard by a couple of playful (not vicious) dogs from down the street?

3. Have you ever been frightened away from your own mail box by a snarling dog? And dogs, belonging to the animal kingdom, smell fear on a human and then the dog is master.

4. Have you ever stepped in pile after pile after pile of dog mess in your own yard? And in Town.

5. Have you ever rescued somebody's child at a school bus stop as he stood crying in the midst of mating dogs?

6. Have you ever been near collapse from fright as a dog came galloping to you and his owner "re-assured" you that the dog only wanted to say "hi".

Residents Invited Down To Farm

29

THE TOWNSMAN, APRIL 20, 1978

The Turner Farm, Circa 1900

Andover residents have been invited down to the Turner Farm on South Main Street Sunday, for a tour of the old farm house and barn, and a study of one of the few working farms remaining in Andover.

The 1 to 3 p.m. open house provides an opportunity for townspeople to get acquainted with the farm before they vote at next week's Town Meeting on a $390,000 warrant article that would purchase the landmark property for the town.

The event is sponsored by the Andover Village Improvement Society (AVIS), the Andover Conservation Commission and the Andover Committee of the Appalachian Mountain Club, with leaders Robert Purtell, Harold Rafton, Dena Hammond and Louise VanEveren.

Harvey Turner, Jr., and Frederick Winthrop, Jr., State Commissioner of Food and Agriculture, will be special guests.

Two separate tours will be offered during the afternoon, both ending with free cider at the old farm stand on South Main. A house and barn tour will zero in on the fireplaces, the architecture, hay lofts, farm implements and some of the old-fashioned conveniences of the barn.

The second is a walking tour of the farm itself, through apple orchards, vegetable plots, hayfields, woodlands, stone walls and a babbling brook.

Board Seeks To Equalize

The Andover Board of Assessors has reaffirmed its position in favor of a property equalization program, maintaining that opposition to a suit by the State to equalize will only delay the inevitable and will cost the town more in the long run.

Both the Finance Committee and Board of Selectmen have also come out in favor of the program, for which a $150,000 warrant article is included in next week's town meeting.

"The need to equalize has been demonstrated and the facts have basically remained the same," Board of Assessors Chairman A. D. McLaren said this week. "Revaluation," he said, "will not raise additional taxes, but merely redistribute everyone's fair share of the taxes."

"The only new factor involved this year," he went on, "is the suit by the State to force the Town to conduct an equalization program."

"The Town, by opposing this suit can temporarily delay the day of equalization," he said. "If it does it can hope that the legislature will, in the interim, pass some sort of legislation, or that a referendum will be approved that will allow residences to be valued at a smaller percentage of market value than industrial or commercial property. Property taxes, however, will remain the same with us since no viable substitute exists."

"When and if legislation or a referendum is passed allowing residences to be valued at a different percentage," he said "equalization must still take place in order to determine fair market value."

"Opposition of this suit will not only incur legal and court costs, but eventually all of the communities named and all those yet to be named will be forced into an equalization program at the same time. When this occurs, qualified personnel will be at a premium and Andover's costs will be much higher."

"The end result is obvious," McLaren

Griggs Would Cut Building Plans

Former School Committee Chairman Francis E. Griggs, Jr., this week charged the school administration with "pork barreling" an "obvious need" for renovations at East Jr. High into a $10 million building plan, and countered with a $3 to $4 million plan for improvements at East alone.

He said a motion will be forthcoming from the floor at next week's Town Meeting for $300,000 in architectural fees to plan renovations at East Jr. High.

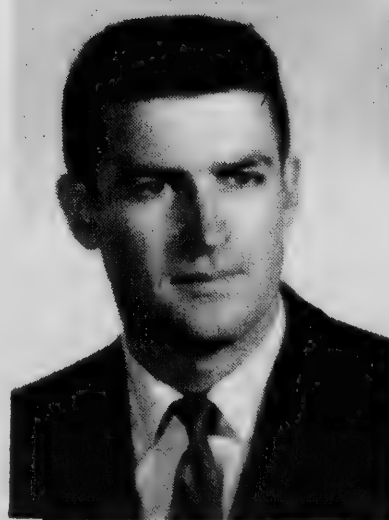

The article already existing in the warrant calls for $900,000 in planning funds for a project that Griggs said includes a "wish list" the administration has been building for seven years.

The administration has proposed a 25,000 square foot addition at East Jr. High, as well as an auditorium, additional classrooms and phys ed space at the high school, and renovations at West Jr. High.

Griggs claimed that the proposed high school auditorium is "not a need" of the school system, but a desire of "a small number of people," and that no expansion of phys ed facilities is necessary beyond the Sacred Heart playing fields and the Cardinal Cushing Gym recently purchased by the town.

He said the additional classroom space is not needed at the high school now and that it will be needed "less in the future."

He said he is most disturbed by the way the whole proposal evolved. "From an initial input to the capital budgeting plan of an East JHS renovation only, it has, suddenly expanded to a building program in excess of $10 million. What the school department has done is to take a project which is an obvious need and tack on to it its accumulated wish list which has been building over the past seven years."

He said the school administration has been joined by a school committee somewhat "liberal and free spending," and by "our so-called 'financial watchdogs,' the Finance Committee."

"Who would have believed that any finance committee from Andover would approve $900,000 in architectural fees for a proposal as ill-defined as the one submitted to Town Meeting?" he asked.

"The items listed remind me of a kid in a candy shop who is tempted to buy one of each item and who has all the money he needs. The only difference is that we as taxpayers do not, or should not, want to subsidize this shopping spree. The finance committees of days past were vastly different from today's. In other words, our 'financial watchdogs' have become our financial lapdogs."

Griggs contended that town meeting "has had the good sense to vote down ill-conceived school department plans in the past, and it can do it again."

"Keep in mind, he said, "that all that is required to pass the subject warrant Article is a majority vote of those in attendance."

Space Needs

Griggs said that approximately seven years ago, the town was being told by the school committee and administration "that a pressing need for additions to the Doherty School and to the high school existed. You are probably aware that the projection by the Administration called for a 1979-80 student enrollment of 8800 students. In reality, the total student enrollment for 1979-80 will be approximately what it was in 1970-71, i.e.

Town Meeting

Present law requires them only to be under voice command.

Town purchase of the Turner Farm on South Main Street, a moratorium on sewer construction, a property equalization program (to the tune of $150,000), and a host of others are expected to draw heavy interest.

Running the show will be James B. Doherty, new to the Town Moderator podium, though long familiar at town meeting itself, where he has been checking off voters' names for about 40 years.

He'll gavel the first session to order at 7:30 p.m. Monday.

Admittance to Town Meeting, as usual, will be by checking one's name off the appropriate precinct voting list, and Town Clerk Elden Salter urges residents who

Double Sessions

no residents would go against the building article itself, which seeks $900,000 in planning funds, because of the short-term inconvenience they would suffer with double sessions.

"It would be a sad day for Andover," he said, "if they didn't opt for the long term improvement of secondary facilities here."

Committeeman Casimir Kolaski added that voting down the Article 60 would also "by no means" mean the end of double sessions.

Even if the schools aren't allowed to go ahead with the renovaton and addition projects they seek, he said they'd have to come back to another town meeting for at least $2 million just to bring East Jr. High up to a reasonable condition.

It would still have to be closed down, he said, to allow for necessary construction.

The committee chose the administration's recommendation for double sessions as "the best way to go" from "a basic education standpoint."

They turned down a proposal to keep seventh graders in their elementary schools as "too disruptive," and another for double sessions at the high school with Grades 7 and 8 at West Jr. High.

Seifert said that upgrading certain facilities at the elementary schools to accommodate seventh graders would be costly. Some science lab, home economics and industrial arts rooms would have to be provided, he said, and there are presently no shower set-ups in any of the elementary schools for phys ed classes.

Academically, he said, teachers would be running back and forth between schools, seventh graders would not be able to take advantage of upper class offerings, and the upper classes would be left with a high teach-pupil ratio of somewhere around 40 to 1. Consistency of services in the elementary schools, a product sought in recent redistricting of elementary boundaries, would be curtailed.

Socially, Seifert, it would be disadvantageous for a class and its school to be split, and orientation to junior high school would be delayed to the eighth grade. Certain club and other extra-curricular activities wouldn't be available to seventh graders.

Double sessions at the high school for Grades 9 through 12, he said, would leave their classrooms at very comfortable levels, while seventh and eighth grades at West would have class sizes of about 40.

Chairman David Ahouse called the action for double sessions "a motion no one is too happy with . . . which summarizes the situation."

"We don't like double sessions," he went on, "but it's the best we can do within our financial constraints."

Committeeman Elaine Viehmann, who don't know what precinct they're in, because of changes in the past year, to call his office ahead of time and save a lot of confusion. Interested non-voters will be seated on stage.

Refreshments will be served by the Andover Chapter of American Field Service, downstairs in the cafeteria, and the proceedings will reach that area by loud speaker.

The regular Warrant business will be officially interrupted twice for "Special Town Meetings," articles that came up to be included in the regular warrant.

The first special, itself 14 articles long, will begin at 9 p.m. Tuesday, and will highlight possible town to consider possible town purchase of the old Turner Farm, withdrawal of the office of chief of police from the civil service ranks, funds for this year's snow removal, and allowing Memorial Hall Library trustees to go ahead and plan an addition there.

The historic Turner Farm has been suggested for conservation, recreation and public farming use, and supporters anticipate that 50 percent of the $390,000 cost would be reimbursed by the state. The trend in recent years has been to remove administrative positions from civil service, and the police chief warrant was added now because Chief Nicoll is about to retire.

The second Special Town Meeting, only two articles long, will convene at 8 p.m. Thursday, to take up a possible moratorium on extension of Andover's sewer lines, and renovation of the Boston & Maine Railroad crossing at Ballardvale Center. The latter issue involves a $15,000 appropriation to install utility lines under the crossing at the same time while other improvements are being made at the intersection. The B&M would pay $15,000 themselves, and when all was said and done, the railroad tracks would offer a much more comfortable ride to autos than today.

The sewer moratorium item was added just last week, when it became known that the town's system already works at capacity during certain times of the year, causing imperfectly treated or unpurified sewage to escape into the Shawsheen River.

The moratorium, until July 1, 1981, would give the town time to complete a sewer study, and make improvements at the River Road pumping station and the line to the regional treatment plant in North Andover.

Meanwhile, during regular business, various neighborhoods will be interested in articles dealing with the laying of water mains, the discontinuing of certain streets as town streets, and the acceptance of others — which would make the town then responsible for their upkeep.

A $300,000 article would fund improvements at the Fish Brook Pumping Station; a $2,500 article would provide Christmas lighting (if Center Merchants match the amount dollar for dollar); an $80,000 article would prepare topographic maps of Andover; and $35,000 would provide improve the access road at Recreation Park.

One of the most creative articles would appropriate $58,000 from the 35-year-old Post-War Rehabilitation Fund to "remove architectural barriers" in municipal buildings and sidewalks, and allow easier access for the elderly and handicapped.

Another article would restrict the use of recreational vehicles, such as minibikes, go-carts, dune buggies, motorbikes, and the like, to private property and to the hours of 9 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Still others would have the town join the Merrimack Valley Regional Transit Authority, subsidize Trombly Motor Coach for bus service within town limits, establish a Flood Hazard District, allow cluster development and further regulate retail signs.

The Town Warrant, in its entirety was mailed to voters last week.

The Truest Form Of Democracy?

Monday night, the annual display of what is oft referred to as the truest form of democracy gets underway in Andover — the annual town meeting.

We shall not dwell on the fact that it is hardly a representative of what it was intended to be. As is well known town meeting was originally intended to be representative of the feelings of all the voters in a community. Today, it is impossible to even smack of the original intent. There is no hall big enough to accommodate 15,000 plus voters in Andover, should they show up. Interest among those that do show, except for a small core of concerned taxpayers, is focused only on particular interests.

But, open town meeting, as long as it is our form of municipal administration, should command the interest of many in Andover this year, through the variety offered in the makeup of the agenda.

Between the concern for dogs and the building of additional school facilities, voters will be asked to focus on such things as purchase of a farm, revaluation, dropping civil service for the police chief position, bus service, not to mention adoption of an annual operating budget to totalling in the vicinity of $19 million.

We would like to present some things to think about before the gavel falls next Monday, such as:

Dogs: The traditional issue of dog control is once again before the voters at an early stage of the town meeting agenda.

The law passed last October, more liberal in scope than the one that was approved last Spring and then turned down by the attorney general, is on the books at present.

Last week, Selectmen Virginia Cole and Susan T. Poore moved to disapprove the more stringent leash law which will be before the voters next week. But the other members of the board opted to take no position. We are a bit disappointed, feeling a position, one way or another, could have been made by the entire board, particularly in view of it not being just bylaw adoption. Eventually money would be required to enforce the law.

The present bylaw calls for dogs to be aware of the calendar and the clock. In other words they have to be controlled when youngsters are going to and from schools and off the streets on the days of trash collection.

It may not be the best law, but the alternative is complete control, as proposed in Article 5 of the warrant.

In view of not having had the opportunity to test the enforcement capability of the more liberal law, we would opt giving it a chance, with the thought that if more stringent laws are needed, then the October town meeting will again feature canine capers.

Revaluation: The state has picked Andover as among ten communities in the state which must revalue real estate in accordance with the court orders.

Town Manager Jared S. A. Clark has indicated that if the state insists on the town revaluating, then Andover should insist on all communities being in the same boat.

We would concur with Clark's feelings.

As for Andover revaluating, Andover has done this every ten years in order to maintain a fair share for municipal services among all taxpayers.

The big problem in not approving such a program by town meeting is the state's option to order it, do it, then charge the town.

We prefer local control.

Turner Farm: As indicated a week ago, provided the 50 per cent funding from outside sources is forthcoming, purchase of this property is probably justified.

We reserve judgment, however, on the ultimatum proposal to have it worked as a municipal farm, which is basically not before the house next week, but threatens to surface in October, provided the purchase is approved.

Civil Service: Voters will be asked to allow the position of police chief to be removed from civil service status.

It is part of the recommendations of consultants who examined the police department a year ago.

If approved, the top law enforcement administrator would be under the town manager, who in turn is responsible to the selectmen.

There is the possibility of political control over the department which civil service originally was intended to remove.

Changes in membership on the board of selectmen and in the town manager's office, could, of course, have an effect on the police chief position, even though it could be considered unlikely in Andover.

There was for a time a trend toward appointment of an administrative head of the department, but more recent trends have leaned more toward promotion within a department.

We are sure of only one thing in regard to the issue. The time to make the decision is now, since the present chief is nearing retirement.

Whether the post should remain in civil service or not, hopefully will be outlined sufficiently on the town meeting floor in order to provide a proper decision.

Bus Service: The voters will be asked to allow the town to join the Merrimack Valley Transit Authority.

We recommend this action which will allow the town to negotiate a contract for continuance of local bus service.

It is important that such service remain for the benefit of the senior citizens and students, who rely on such service.

We recommend approval.

School construction: There is little doubt that East Junior High school is in need of renovation and possibly addition.

As for other school facilities, such as auditoriums and rooms for special services provided within the educational program, there is need for more information and planning.

We understand that the school department is in the process of providing that additional planning function.

With that in mind, it is advisable to provide the funds to get the junior high project underway and allow for the additional planning.

JACK ANDERSON WITH JOE SPEAR WEEKLY SPECIAL

Citizens: Don't Look to U.S. If You're in Trouble Abroad

WASHINGTON — American citizens traveling abroad had best be warned they can expect little help from their U.S. ambassadors if they are thrown into a foreign jail under even the most outrageous circumstances. Nor should they trust that their own embassies will offer them sanctuary from vengeful foreign police.

The State Department apparently believes it's more important to play it cozy with even the most dictatorial head of state rather than helping fellow Americans in trouble. Because of this soft-soap attitude among our diplomatic corps, an anguished American businessman has been thrown back into a Nicaraguan prison cell, betrayed by his own ambassador.

The victim of this nightmarish experience is Arthur Chariton who went to Nicaragua in 1975 to operate a textile enterprise in partnership with that country's iron-fisted dictator Anastasio Somoza. Chariton and the profit-hungry Somoza subsequently wound up in a financial dispute, and the irascible Nicaraguan dictator had him summarily arrested, fined $1 million and imprisoned on trumped-up charges.

Later, Chariton was transferred to a military hospital because of a diabetic condition, escaped and took refuge in the U.S. embassy in the capital city of Managua.

The American entrepreneur thought he was safe from further Somoza persecution inside his country's embassy. A State Department handbook instructs our emissaries abroad to serve U.S. citizens "with dedicated professional enthusiasm."

Chariton told U.S. embassy officials he couldn't survive the primitive conditions of Nicaraguan prison and appealed for political asylum. Yet the frantic American was told by punctilious embassy types that political asylum was impossible under diplomatic protocol. Worse yet, they informed Nicaraguan police of his whereabouts.

For a while, it seemed that the Somoza government was inclined to let Chariton go free. They made no demand that he be turned over for further imprisonment. His attorney and Nicaraguan officials negotiated on his possible freedom.

But this month, our ambassador, Mauricio Salaun, summoned Chariton to his inner sanctum and announced he must leave the embassy, which under international law is U.S. territory, privileged from any invasion by foreign intruders.

While Chariton was beseeching his cause, a group of U.S. Marine guards entered the office. He has told us that, as he pleaded his case, they seized him physically and carried him outside the embassy gate. He was turned over to Somoza's troops.

Hustled back to a prison hospital, Chariton managed to talk to us by telephone. He cried out in outrage against what he says was a betrayal by his own government. His family is panicky over his fate. Hundreds of Americans who heard Chariton's plaintive appeal for help on my television show have flooded my office with telephone calls of concern.

Two congressmen, Richard Ottinger of New York and Andrew McGuire of New Jersey, were among the callers. They have drafted a strong protest to the State Department about the attitude of Ambassador Salaun and his underlings in the Chariton case. An embassy spokesman said Chariton was ejected to avoid setting a bad legal precedent.

At the turn of the century, President Teddy Roosevelt obtained the release of an American citizen held for ransom by a tinpot potentate with a five-word message that warned: "Perdicaris alive or Rasouli dead." From the standpoint of Arthur Chariton, that message these days should read: "Tell it to the Marines."

Alien Alienation — One of the thorniest problems facing both federal and local officials involves the overwhelming influx of illegal aliens into this country, most of them streaming across the border from Mexico. A huge number come desperate for ill-paying jobs that many Americans refuse to stoop to. They work for substandard wages doing arduous field labor on the ranches of the West, take dishwasher jobs in restaurants or work as house maids.

They subsist in an economic and legal netherworld. Because of their alien status, they are unable to complain openly of their treatment by employers without facing possible arrest and deportation. Some come here under sponsorship of wealthy Americans who vouch that they won't become public charges.

Unfortunately, thousands of them are cast adrift on a hazardous job market, unable to find work. They have little recourse except to try to get on the relief rolls and the cost to federal, state and local governments is mounting alarmingly.

Los Angeles County, for example, has an estimated 600,000 illegal aliens on its hands. It cost county taxpayers last year approximately $34 million just to provide health care for them. Local taxpayers in our urban centers are up in arms at having to pay the freight for what they deem essentially a federal problem. They want Washington to underwrite the expense of the unfortunate but illegal aliens in our midst.

Yet there is another aspect of the problem to be considered. Some experts claim that a high percentage of the aliens are law-abiding, hard-working people who probably contribute more to the communities in which they live than they take out.

The breadwinner heads of families often hold two jobs, let alone one, even in areas where there is high unemployment. Federal and state taxes are routinely deducted from their pay checks.

Immigration Director Leonel Castillo told my office that his agency has very little firm knowledge about the pros and cons of the alien economic impact. But he insists that in most communities, those he refers to as "undocumented" aliens have a plus-effect on the local economy. Other experts, however, violently disagree with him and many of them are in his own agency.

Some facts may emerge shortly when a select House Committee on Population, headed by New York Rep. James Scheuer, conducts hearings on whether the illegals are a boon or a burden on the communities they come to in this country.

a dog chased its wheels, while the owner called to no avail. I have! Four out of seven of the above occurred after/since our present "voice control" law has been in effect.

Since November I have been the owner of a delightful, fun puppy, and I love him. But—he is on a leash when outside and he is "walked" on our land where the family alternates in cleaning up. When I inquired into obedience training, two different animal specialists told me no animal is ever 100% voice-controlled.

It is time we began thinking like humans.

I love my dog, but there is a place for everything, (you certainly can't call a dog a "someone") and everything should be kept in its place.

History Exported

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

Am I the only one who averts my eyes as I pass the old Hartigan's corner these days? A little piece of nostalgia, a connection with the "good old days" has disappeared, as the Townsman's very good piece of two weeks ago suggested, and where is it going? — to Texas!

I'll miss the corner drug store which was also a little corner of the past — and a fine specimen of its kind. Too, with its mahogany shelves and cabinets and marble soda fountain. Even the people behind the counter remained constant from the first time I went in for a prescription fourteen years ago — people you got to know a little, passed the time of day with, friendly, human — just the kind of place we'd hoped to find in a small town.

Hartigan's is gone now and I feel a sense of sadness. It's not that I begrudge Mr. Sullivan and others their retirement. My wish is that a citizen's group (perhaps mobilized by the Historical Society) had gotten together to raise funds and purchase those beautiful outittings so that they might remain in Andover. Why must we export our history?

We members of the Andover community need to examine what we want the character of our town to be — are there historic spots we need to preserve, or do we want our town to become as up-to-date and modern as all the other suburbs across the country.

I try to patronize the smaller shops and businesses, old and new, in the community, because I think personal service is one

Massachusetts Electric Says:

"Grow Another Garden On Us!"

Last summer, over 1500 customers gave us a green-thumbs-up response to our free garden-plot offer. So here we go again.

A lot of vegetables were grown on Massachusetts Electric ground last year. The more than 1500 state residents who took us up on our "Grow a Garden On Us" offer had bumper crops. They ate great home-grown produce, saved money and had fun doing it.

It was all very satisfying for us, too. We got marvelous letters (and crops) from appreciative gardeners — and Governor Dukakis even presented us with an Environmental Awareness Award.

In fact, the program was so successful we're doing it again.

We'll plow and harrow the land, stake out plots (up to 1000 sq. ft.) and even offer you guidance on planting and growing. There's water handy to most plots. You do the tilling, seeding, feeding, weeding — and, of course, the harvesting.

Based on last year's experience, the land should go fast. So call your local Massachusetts Electric Office to learn what plots are available near you. Or send us the coupon. Work out a co-op arrangement with friends, if you like.

And good growing!

Christ Church Teams Observe Sports Week

37

THE TOWNSMAN, APRIL 20, 1978

The Christ Church basketball teams, members of the Andover Church League, recently celebrated their "Sports Week" which culminated with their second annual Awards Dinner last Friday night.

The week opened with an intra-church battle between the Christ Church A and B teams in the ACBL Intermediate "Blue" Division.

The B squad, coached by Billy Nally and Bill Anderson, squeezed out a 12-11 victory in the rubber game of their best-of-three seasonal series.

Steve Blair, Billy Earnshaw and Matt Leonard shared the scoring honors for the winners with 4 points apiece.

Nancy Rogers and Jean Blair were given solid ovations for their defensive play, while Jeff Pierson and Eric Anderson also turned in top performances for the B crew.

Chip Wood took game-high point laurels with 7 for the A team, while teammates Roger Fisk and Alan Gable chipped in 2 each.

The A squad erupted for seven points in the fourth quarter, but the spirited rally fell just short.

Sparking the defensive effort in the final stanza were Cheryl Hough, Beth Deacon, Lori Franzese and Laura Willson, while rebounding leaders were Tim Jennings, Mark Asgerisson and Steve Francis.

Coaches Win

The Sports Week continued the following night when the C-C Coaches teamed for a game against the Senior Division Crusaders.

The Coaches pulled out a 35-31 victory, led by Bill Anderson with 12 points, Norm Frost 9, Bill Rogers 6, Pete Knowles 5 and Mike Robinson 3.

For the Seniors, high-scoring Mark Rogers took game-high honors with 15 points, Mark Frost added 10, John Rogers 4 and Mike Blair 2.

Defensive standouts for the kids were the Durant brothers, Eric and Todd, along with Randy Jones.

Awards

A family pot-luck supper and the presentation of awards wrapped up the activities Friday night.

Player awards and a special high scorers' plaque were made possible by Rev. J. Edison Pike.

The plaque, honoring both past and present scoring leaders for Christ Church in all ACBL divisions, was given by basketball coordinator Bill Rogers to Rev. Pike for display in the church. It will be matched next year with a plaque honoring past and present Most Valuable and Most Improved Players for C-C in each division.

All of this past season's coaches were given gift certificates by the players on their respective teams.

Eight separate Most Valuable and Most

Solar energy reaching the U. S. in twelve hours is equal to the nation's yearly consumption, Massachusetts Audubon tells us.

Improved Player trophies were given to players in the Senior, Intermediate and Junior Divisions. The winners were chosen by the coaches.

The MVP awards went to Mark Frost (Seniors), Alan Gable (Intermediate A team), Steve Blair (Intermediate B team), Andy Grant (Junior A team) and Adam Smith (Junior B team).

The Most Improved Players are Eric Fredette (Senior Division), Cheryl Hough (Intermediate A team) and Matt Leonard (Intermediate B team).

Special Award

The final award of the evening was a special presentation by Norm Frost to Mark Rogers, who finished his four-year

"career" at Christ Church with 484 total points.

Mark averaged 9.1 points per game and scored over 100 points for three of the four years he played in the Intermediate and Senior Divisions.

Warrior Tracksters Off And Winning

The Andover High track team opened its schedule last week with a 114-31 victory over Tewksbury and a 112-33 win over Wilmington.

Paul Keefe's triple win in the Tewksbury meet and his 6'6" high jump against Wilmington topped the team's performance. Keefe, the defending state high jump champion, was out the entire indoor season with a knee injury, but appears ready to pick up where he left off in 1977.

Double wins were also turned in by Rick Collins and Paul Farnham in the Tewksbury meet and by Farnham and sophomore Rip Williams against Wilmington. Other outstanding performances were turned in by Jim Hamilton, with a 2:01.8 in the half mile and by sophomore Bill Hart, who pole vaulted 10'6".

The Andover team will compete in the League Relays at Billerica Saturday at 10 a.m. and will face the powerful Methuen Rangers at Andover Wednesday at 3:15.

If all the gold owned by mankind was formed into a single block of gold, it would measure a mere 18 cubic yards on each side — though we've been digging for the precious metal for 6,000 years.

Patterson First In Nordic Race

Warren Patterson, 75 Cheever Cir., Andover, received first prize in the 13 to 17-year-old, age group, and had a 28th place overall finish in the Fleischmann's Margarine Ski Marathon at Waterville Valley, N.H., last month.

Warren's winning time in the 50-kilometer event, the second longest ski race in New England, was 2:40:55.01.

Sanctioned by the U.S. Ski Association and the Eastern Ski Association, the spring ski fest drew 693 entrants. The Fleischmann's Margarine Marathon is part of a total involvement with the U.S. Nordic Ski Team.

John Bower, director of the U.S. Ski Team, awarded Patterson a complete set of U.S. Team skis, poles and boots for his performance.

Patterson has been placing among the top 10 Eastern Junior skiers in most of the ESA cross-country races this year. As captain of the Phillips-Andover Ski Team this season, he led the boys' cross-country skiers to the top position in the new England Prep School Championships. The Academy awarded him the Peter Quackenbush McKee trophy at the winter sports banquet earlier this month and he was recognized by the academy newspaper as one of the Athletes-of-the-Term.

Warren is also one of the volunteers who started up the Billy Koch Junior Ski Team for Andover youngsters this winter.

He will be graduating from PA this spring and has been accepted at Dartmouth College.

sively along with teammate Kim Burbank. Build A Bird House

We know spring has arrived as many birds have begun planning their families. Perhaps you'd like to put up a bird house and attract a pair to your yard. If so, bring your hammer and come to the Bird House Workshop at Mass. Audubon Society's Ipswich River Wildlife Sanctuary on Perkins Row in Topsfield any time from 10:30-1 on Saturday, April 29.

Babe Ruth Tryouts April 29-30

The Andover Babe Ruth baseball team will hold tryouts for its 1978 squad on Saturday and Sunday, April 29 and 30, from 1 p.m. until approximately 3:30 p.m. both days.

The session on Saturday, April 29 will be held at the Andover High school field, while the tryout on Sunday, April 30 will be held at the team's home Playstead Field behind the East Junior High.

All Andover youngsters ages 13 to 15 are eligible to play Babe Ruth, provided they will not reach their 16th birthday prior to August 1, 1978.

The roster consists of 15 players, and all spots on the team are open.

Players on last year's club must earn their way back on the team this season.

Members of the Junior High and high school teams are invited to try out, along with Little League graduates, and those who may be less experienced in baseball.

Babe Ruth charges no registration fee. Andover competes in the Greater-Lawrence Babe Ruth League against rival teams from North Andover and various sections of Lawrence.

Andover, placing second each of the last four seasons, went 20-11-1 overall in 1977 and has a record of 86-33-4 during the past four summers.

Each team in the league will play an extensive schedule, with the top four regular season finishers continuing on for best-of-3 semifinal playoff series. The two finalists then square off in a best-of-5 championship series.

Last year Andover reached the title series before losing to North Andover, which swept everything and finished 26-1 overall.

The Greater-Lawrence League also selects two All-Star teams during the course of the season, one specifically for 13 year olds and the other for 14-15 year olds.

These clubs compete in the National Ruth Tournaments, which begin on the local level and progress through the State, New England and Regional tournaments.

Both the G-L 13 and 14-15 All-Star teams, well represented by Andover players, have advanced to the State or New England tournaments over the past three summers.

Two years ago the older group barely missed out on a trip to Pueblo, Colorado for the Nationals. Manchester, N.H. won the New England title and went on to capture the National crown as well.

Montreal Trip

The Andover team will make its fifth annual trip to Montreal, Canada during the first week of July.

The locals will play several games against Canadian teams, attend a Montreal Expos-St. Louis Cardinals double-header at the Olympic Stadium, and visit the "Man and His World" exhibition which includes one of North America's largest amusement areas ("La Ronde").

The group will also swim in the Olympic stadium pool and have free time in downtown Montreal.

While in the city the Andover crew resides at McGill University.

Senior League

Although Senior League tryouts will be held the same weekend plus the following weekend, every youngster trying out will have equal opportunity to work with both

Benefit For Conservatory

The Friends of New England Conservatory will welcome spring Friday evening, May 5 at the Park School in Brookline, with their annual fund-raising event. the Babe Ruth and Senior teams.

In addition, the Ruth team will be selected and the players notified well in advance of the second Senior League weekend of tryouts.

Anyone wishing further information on the Babe Ruth program may contact Rick Harrison at 475-2007 or Ed Kelley at 475-0605.

Griggs' Proposal

around 6000 students.

"We are now being told again by the same administration and a school committee similar in educational philosophy (i.e. liberal and free spending) that a serious need for new space exists again in the school system."

Griggs said there should be "no doubt in anyone's mind that East should remain as a school, and that it can and should be renovated."

"With Junior high enrollments on the way down it should also be obvious to any thinking person that we should not need additional space added to the structure. With good architectural work it should be possible to utilize the space existing within the walls of the building more efficiently and, therefore, meet the needs of a shrinking enrollment."

Auditorium Proposal

As for the proposed, 2000-seat auditorium, he said it is "not a need" of the school system. "It has been argued in the past," he said, "that the town needs an auditorium so that the entire high school student body can attend an assembly. Given the fact that an auditorium is the least utilized facility in a school and that a 2000-seat auditorium even when used will be grossly under-utilized in terms of the numbers of students present at any one time, this indeed is a weak argument. The Drama Club has many other locations in town which it can utilize for its activities, if it used a little imagination."

Griggs agreed that the phys ed program could use more space, "particularly with the rapid expansion of girls' teams which are competing on an interscholastic basis."

"With the purchase of the Sacred Heart playing fields and the gymnasium, I would recommend that in 1976 there were 20 million sheep, Massachusetts Audubon says. Yearly, per capita,

Griggs

full utilization of these new facilities."

High School Addition

Griggs claimed the addition of classrooms to the high school "has been an administration obsession ever since their high school addition proposal was rejected by town meeting in 1971. The superintendent has said that we will soon have a student enrollment of 1800 at the high school. In addition he has stated that we are in danger of losing our accreditation if we don't add to the high school.

"In reality, the high school population has probably peaked out this year, and in no way will it exceed 1500 students in the foreseeable future. It is most likely that by the time any addition is built that enrollment would be approaching the 1385 students which the superintendent's committee on Declining Enrollment states is the capacity of the facility.

"The superintendent's second statement that we would be in danger of losing our accreditation should be relegated to the 'ridiculous' file."

All Or Nothing?

What was most disturbing to him, Griggs said, was the "all or nothing" aspect" of the Warrant.

"And what options do you have as a town meeting member?" he asked. "Vote for it all because East must be renovated or vote against it because it is Andover's answer to a 'pork barrel' proposal. If the strategy sounds familiar to the Doherty School renovations being tacked onto the Shawsheen School's renovations, it is! Now those individuals interested in additional physical education facilities, those interested in drama, those who want to believe erroneous population projections, those who feel that anything for education is good and final those who honestly believe that East should be renovated must vote for all or get nothing. We really deserve better from our elected officials. Why don't they give us the opportunity to vote on these projects as separate projects since each one may rank differently in the minds of the taxpayer."

The early Dutch settlers of New York told the story of St. Nicholas, or Sinterklaas, a 4th century bishop who was well known as a secret bestower of gifts to deserving people. It was this figure that inspired C.M. Moore to write this poem, "A Visit from St. Nicholas."

At the present rate of clearing and destruction the Amazon's 1.5 million square miles of forest will have disappeared in about 45 years, Massachusetts Audubon reports. Each year 40,000 square miles are cleared to open up land for farming, timber and other forest products.

A BETTER BUY

Sure mortgage interest rates are higher than they were, but so are the market values of homes and land. Please believe me when I say that even at today's inflated prices and interest rates, real estate is a better buy than anything else you can go after with borrowed dollars.

Financing for other purchases often costs twice as much — and these things depreciate while a house usually grows in value. Check the trade-in value of your car when you turn it in for a new one. Also for the past ten years, real estate values have doubled the increase in the Dow Jones average.

In this sense, real estate is the most worthwhile investment you can make, and your best protection against inflation. And don't forget the priceless dividends your family will enjoy as you live in your growing investment.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at THE HOWE AGENCY, 4 Punchard Ave., Andover. Phone: 475-5100. We're here to help.

Presenting the REALTY WORLD Home Protection Plan

As Experts in selling homes, we at Realty World® know the importance of making your home stand out from every other house "For Sale". Our Realty World® yard sign out front makes your home more desirable for many reasons. One of the best is our Realty World® Home Protection Plan.

How It Works

The plan protects the buyer from unexpected and sometimes devastating repair costs that may come up after the purchase of a resale home. The plan protects the buyer no matter what kind of home you are selling. No matter its age or location. It covers the buyer for one full year from date of closing on the following items*:

- The Electrical System
- The Central Heating System
- The Central Air-Conditioning System
- Plumbing and Drainage lines for Leaks and Breaks . . .
- ... even stoppages
- The Hot Water Heater
- Ductwork
- Certain Built-in and Free-standing Appliances

A Competitive Edge

A buyer wants peace of mind about the home he buys. Put yourself in his place. Would you rather own a home with possible hidden repair costs, or one that was protected for one full year? Buyers buy what they trust. That's why the Realty World® Home Protection Plan may help speed the sale. The decision to buy comes easier and faster if the buyer feels secure. It may make for less negotiating and fewer counter offers.

If the sale is faster, you save money. You pay less interest on your payments. You get your money sooner to invest elsewhere.

And when closing is completed, the Realty World® Home Protection Plan helps guard you against possible litigation on the covered systems and appliances.

The World of Difference is Inexpensive

It is a relatively minor cost of selling your home. And you do not pay for it until closing. In fact . . .

There is a Bonus

Fifteen days after you authorize us to sell your home (and include the Realty World® Home Protection Plan), right up to the date of closing, we'll cover* . . .

The Electrical System
Plumbing and Drainage Lines for Leaks and Breaks . . .

... even stoppages

The Hot Water Heater

... for you the seller. What's more, if your home is taken off the market for any reason, the plan is cancelled and there is no cost to you. Let the Realty World® Home Protection Plan help make your home even more desirable . . . and find out why we've got an international reputation for being different.

*For specific details and conditions ask your Realty World Representative about it.

said. "Equalization must and will eventually take place, and at a much higher cost than is possible today. Further, it would be administered by the State rather than local officials.

"However, if the Town votes for equalization now, it will have the suit set aside, saving legal court expenses. It can then proceed with equalization under direction of Town officials and at a cost we can control. We also shall be prepared to put into effect any savings developed by legislative action or referendum at least two and possibly three years earlier than would otherwise be possible."

The warrant article, if approved by Town Meeting, directs the town manager to hire outside consultants to do the job.

"Legislation has recently been enacted with regard to the elderly exemption," he concluded, "which permits anyone qualifying for an exemption to omit the assessed value of their real estate in determining the value of their whole estate."

made the motion, said they could continue to look into other possibilities. If, for instance, Reading decided to close a school because of declining enrollments, she said, she'd be glad to consider busing kids to that building.

Seifert also said that with a year's lead time, they could make some improvements on the situation. Perhaps, he said the Department of Recreation/Community Schools and parents could come up with some reasonable activities to keep youngsters busy when they get out at noon.

Furthermore, he said, the hours will enable some junior high pupils to have jobs.

In answer to a parent concern about pupils leaving home even earlier than they do now, Seifert said he didn't think there would be any change. He envisions the morning sessions from 7:30 A.M. to noon or 12:15, and the second sessions from 12:30 or so on. There would be no lunch period.

In response to another parent, who wondered why the whole issue couldn't be postponed until elementary enrollments decline enough to make room for 7th graders, Seifert said he had some serious questions if the East Jr. High building could go on after another year.

Furthermore, he said, "we're looking at a 10 percent a year increase in construction. That's half a million dollars a year."

Booklets Published

Salem's Essex Institute has published a seven-booklet series entitled "Historic Houses of the Essex Institute," edited by curator Anne Farnam and Director Bryant F. Tolles, Jr.

In 1910 the Essex Institute of Salem acquired and relocated its first historic house property — the John Ward House, built in 1684. Over the past century, the Institute has added to its collection of representative local domestic architecture, and today maintains a significant group of historic dwellings.

The publication of this series was made possible by a grant from the McCarthy Family Foundation Charity Fund.

For further information, write the Essex Institute, 132 Essex St., Salem
